CALL/ACBD Research Grant

About | Application | Past Recipients

About:

The CALL/ACBD Research Grant was established in 1996 to provide members with financial assistance to carry out research in areas of interest to members and to the association. The Committee to Promote Research manages the grant process, receiving and evaluating applications and making recommendations to the Executive Board for award of the Research Grant.

Applications are normally due March 15, so that an award can be made at the annual meeting in May each year.

The maximum amount of the grant award is $3,000.

Criteria:

The criteria used to evaluate Research Grant applications are:

- the applicant must be a member of CALL/ACBD
- applicants may apply individually or in partnership with another researcher
- the proposed research project must promote an understanding of legal information sources or law librarianship. Legal information sources might be assessed as to access thereto, costs thereof, overall quality including authority, accuracy, etc. Alternatively the project might encompass a comparative analysis of similar sources; critical analysis of content, format, access, etc.; a bibliometric analysis, or bibliographic development. Law librarianship might be analyzed from the point of view of management, services, or related issues such as copyright, technology, etc.
- the research is to be completed within two years of receipt of the award. A progress report is to be submitted to the Committee after one year, to be forwarded to the Executive. On completion of the research, the researcher shall submit a written report or presentation to CALL/ACBD. If the recipient is unable to meet the conditions, the grant money is to be returned to CALL/ACBD. Notices of research in progress and completion of the project will be posted on the CALL/ACBD web site.
- in addition, publication in some reputable journal such as Canadian Law Library Review, or electronic publication on CALL/ACBD's web site, or some other web site, is desired.
- grant recipients, when submitting an article for publication, or presenting their research at the CALL/ACBD Conference, are asked to acknowledge the financial support of the Canadian Association of Law Libraries.
- monies granted may be for research assistance, online costs, compensating time off, purchase of software, travel, clerical assistance, etc.
- funding is available for ongoing projects that fall within the guidelines

The final decision to award the research grant will be made by the CALL/ACBD Executive, based on the recommendation of the Committee to Promote Research.

Previous applicants who were not awarded funding are welcome to reapply.
